The Need:
- 60,000 people in Minnesota and North Dakota have epilepsy; children under age 18 are the largest group affected.
- Parents of children with epilepsy worry about their child’s safety because of his/her epilepsy.

Other top concerns include:
- A child has academic performance problems because of epilepsy;
- A lack of support services and resources in schools;
- Children can have difficulties with personal relationships (friends) because of epilepsy;
- Lack of safe and appropriate recreational activities for a child.

Source: 2013 EF Consumer Needs Assessment

The Answer: The “Chasing Dreams”
Coach Kill Fund

Camp Oz is a one week residential camp for youth with epilepsy. For 30 years, EFMN has provided a traditional YMCA camp experience for kids with seizures. Families are asked to pay just $200 of the $1,750 cost for one week of camp. This fund will provide additional financial support so kids with epilepsy can attend camp and make their dreams come true!

Seizure Smart Schools started in 2006 with a simple premise: make the school environment the best possible for students with seizures. Students, teachers, school nurses and staff learn about seizures and most importantly, how to respond to a student having a seizure. The “Chasing Dreams” Fund will provide training and materials for schools in MN & ND to help kids chase their dreams.

Epilepsy shouldn’t stop people with epilepsy from chasing their dreams.
Epilepsy hasn’t stopped Coach Jerry Kill.
Coach Kill’s “Chasing Dreams” Fund will make dreams come true.

Join the dream, contact:
Vicki Kopplin
Executive Director
Epilepsy Foundation of Minnesota
651.287.2314